Notwithstanding the work carried out within the framework of the national educational programmes of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the number of positive changes achieved, which further improve the quality and effectiveness of education, Taking advantage of the conditions and opportunities created therein is one of the most pressing issues of our time. It is necessary to develop and implement mechanisms that form the motivation of students to acquire knowledge and mechanisms of improvement and quality management of their system of knowledge and learning process through a new form, non-traditional methods of teaching. It is these factors that make it necessary to improve the system of lifelong education in terms of content, to adopt impressive measures that increase the effectiveness of education to a new level of quality. One of the priorities of education is to find a solution to national and universal values in the mind of the student, to develop practical life skills for finding a place in society, and to prepare the ground for the active participation of youth in social and legal relations.

The priority of the education law (September 23, 2020) is the formation of an independent and free-minded person who can consciously participate in socio-political life, actively influence social processes, be responsible for the fate of the country, Nation, family.

Legal education directs the level of legal awareness of the individual to the implementation of the most general legal principles and norms that meet the interests of the individual, society and the state. The formation of legal awareness largely depends on legal education. In the decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan “On the fundamental improvement of the system of raising legal awareness and legal culture in society”, the main task is to increase legal awareness and legal culture, where, first of all, it is necessary to pay special attention to systematic and continuous educational work for all segments of the population<sup>1</sup>. The decree also directs educational and educational work to raise the level of human legal awareness to the awareness of the most general legal principles and norms that meet the interests of the individual, society and the state, legal education is continuous and is given from an early age, children are aware of the rules of behavior in preschool institutions that receive elementary ideas, it is argued that a clearly defined legal character leads to to the occupation.

We need to continuously continue our work to improve legal awareness and legal culture in society. It is clear that we begin legal education with a pre-school education system, that the first skills in this matter will forever remain in the hearts of our children, like a mother goddess. A scientifically based program for improving legal culture should be prepared for each industry and direction, all levels of education. At the same time, first of all, it is necessary to take a serious approach to the study of the Constitution. I consider it necessary to create textbooks for secondary schools such as "the ABC of the Constitution", "Lessons of the Constitution", and "Fundamentals of the Constitution". The Ministries of Justice, Pre-school Education, public Education, higher and secondary special education will be responsible for this work, the President stressed in his reports.<sup>2</sup>

Therefore, the teaching of law subjects in the educational system of our country is of particular note. It is important that young people study law in depth. Of particular importance in the interested study of legal subjects by young people is the teaching of these subjects, teaching methods and their skillful acquisition. This science is aimed at this purpose. In our country, special attention is paid to the education and upbringing of young people in the current pavt. Education has always been the basis of the development of society. Because, a person stands at the center of all relationships, connections in society. Revolution in science and technology and information has made man and his scientific and educational potential an annulling factor of socio-economic development. One of the most important areas in this regard is the use of Advanced results of scientific and technological development, intensification of production, the use of high-performance technical technologies, and most importantly the training of highly qualified specialists. The problems of ensuring a stable economy, taking a worthy place in the international division of Labor, ensuring the competitiveness of the national economy largely depend on the knowledge, qualifications of the labor force, the ability to act according to the situation. To achieve the Great Goals that we must achieve in the future, we must first prepare a highly qualified, time-consuming professional personnel. As on the basis of the "law on Education" adopted in our country, the entire educational system is being reformed, the main focus is such a level of training of personnel. We have no right to forget about the importance of the educational system in the education of young people and their upbringing, the unique wealth of the intellectual and cultural potential of our president, the importance of nurturing and maturing rare talents. The fact that developed countries reached today's high level of development at the expense of this very reason-which is also recognized in reality-is fiction.<sup>3</sup> The training of knowledgeable specialists, and the emergence of human potential depends on the unity of teachers, their organization and teaching of the educational process with knowledge. Therefore, special attention is paid to the organization of the educational process, the application of educational methods that contribute to the deep knowledge of students. In the current period, the organization of the educational process requires the teacher not only to have deep knowledge, but also to have pedagogical skills, to know the various methods of teaching, and to work on himself incessantly. In order for our children to be able to think legally from a young age, starting from high school in our country, they began to study the basics of legal knowledge. And students of higher education, especially in the legal direction, do not have legal thinking, it is necessary to identify, analyze a wide range of legal problems, assess the development trends of legal reforms, feel what results these changes can lead to in the future, learn-to be able to bring to the eyes. And for this, a deep knowledge of the legal Sciences is required. It is important to choose the right method for studying legal Sciences. If the correct method is not chosen during the lesson, then theoretically this will not give the expected result, strictly speaking, the teacher's knowledge should be high.

It is possible to effectively organize the educational process only when the teacher's knowledge is combined with pedagogical skills. To do this, it is necessary to know the various methods of organizing the educational process and their application. This is what the methodology of teaching legal sciences is aimed at. The methodology of law teaches methods of studying subjects and how to apply them in the course of the lesson.
