There are many sports institutions operating in our republic, the main tasks of which are to develop the given sport in the country and to achieve many achievements. Doing different kinds of sports as sports clothes clothing intended for sports, which can protect the athlete's body from injury and help to achieve high sports results.

There are many types of sports, and the choice of which sport should be played depends on the age of the child. Children like different sports at different ages. Therefore, in order to develop proper movement skills, it is necessary to make it possible to engage in the necessary sports. A tricycle is the best solution for children aged 1 to 3 years. At the same time, it is necessary to engage in sports designed for a certain age of the child. This is necessary not only for future achievements, but also for the healthy development of the child. Along with the development of children's sports, the production of sportswear is also growing rapidly.

3-5 years old. Children of this age are not recommended to engage in sports in one direction. Different games are suitable for children at this age. For example: ball games, relay, hide and seek, running during active games, etc. During this time, children should be introduced to sports that they can play in the future. Skiing, back-sitting, helping a child score their first goals, and teaching similar skills are also recommended.

6-9 years old. At this age, children go to school and gain new experiences and skills. Social for young children life is very important. Therefore, it is possible to involve in the sports that my friends are doing. With sports engagement plays an important role in developing cooperation and conflict resolution skills in children. For girls: individual or team gymnastics, swimming, dancing, skiing For boys: football, karate, tennis, etc.

In Uzbekistan, special attention and care is given to young people, who are the guarantee of further rapid development of our society and country. Work aimed at a specific goal in this direction allows children to be involved in sports regularly. Each type of sport requires different clothes, sports shoes and sports equipment. Their need is to organize a network of integrated production facilities for the preparation of sportswear, and this, in turn, requires the further development of the knitting industry. It is natural for many companies to provide quality sportswear assortments for the domestic market. The increase in children's sportswear is considered very important for the young generation, and it is important for their future achievements and development. We can see in the social networks that the appearance of sports clothes is updated by world fashion designers and has a different look and a different design. In conclusion, it can be said that success in sports begins with facilities created for the next generation. To them the more opportunities and conditions are created, the more development and achievements there will be. First of all, the comfort created for them, that is, comfortable clothes, is very important. In this case, our high demand should be focused on knitted products.
