The data sources are collected from ordinal data sources which provide exact data to evaluate the entire situation of Afghanistan.

Methods.

Research Methodology has been portrayed as a set of techniques that are taken into consideration by researchers in order to derive as well detect results based on research activity. This strategy helps to solve several arising problems that occur at time of conducting the research study. While conducted research has been associated with systematic theoretical research analysis based on method as well principles. This chapter focuses on methods, tools and techniques utilized by a researcher in order to conduct research work as well as gather reliable data in order to derive valid research results. Moreover, justification has been given in order to consider discard research method and a suitable link has been framed related to a research topic.

Through prime research methods, qualitative as well quantitative research method has been taken into consideration for conducting this research study and focuses on meeting several demands of research work. As suggested by De Lauri (2019), nature as well purpose of research work determines several methods and strategies utilized for conducting this study and in turn allows marking and conducting forthcoming steps of research study. Quantitative method allows quantifying research findings as well qualitative technique allows to assess and evaluate theoretical findings to pursue research study.

This chapter reflects information that has been derived from valid as well relevant secondary data sources consisting of books, journals, news articles, annual reports, newsletters as well web publications. Moreover, while discussing these concepts, materials has been published at time of compiling the respective chapter is directly associated with it. This chapter represents secondary data approaches focusing on statistical data and is more legible as well as easily comprehensible. Entire discussion has been fragmented into three divisions. First fragment solely focuses on a guideline proposal provided by the Uzbek president to tackle crisis in Afghanistan. Thorough linchpin has been given on President Shavkat Mirziyoyev's proposal in order to restore peace in Afghanistan. This fragment provides strong discussion on a proposal put forward by President Shavkat Mirziyoyev in order to control the rising crisis within Afghanistan (Wenham, 2019).

Primary goal of Shavkat Mirziyoyev is to negotiate a strategy that builds up durability with inclusive settlement in the political field for bringing an end to conflict in Afghanistan. Shavkat Mirziyoyev formulated steps within his nation in order to promote peace and prosperity in the neighboring countries. This story has become the top priority in order to administer unnecessary conflict and set out settlements. President linchpins on stability as well derive prosperity within greater region within Afghanistan. Uzbekistan has contributed within rail as well other transportable infrastructure within Afghanistan as well in other activity sectors and in education field (Hakimi, 2020).

President Shavkat Mirziyoyev as well his envoys set out spacious conversations with several political parties as well movements in countries of Afghanistan. President Shavkat Mirziyoyev, set out a discussion with Taliban that rose from a recent start and directed negotiation among the Afghanistan government as well as Taliban leaders. However, from a recent proposal of President, it has been clear that intra- Afghan peace approaches have started very early that allows establishing peace as well as stability in country. This builds up aspiration as well within Afghanistan and motivates their nation to work together in close cooperation with its allies in Central Asia. Establishing a UN committee allowed to handle issues of Afghan people and at the same time restore peace by assisting economic as well social development in Afghanistan (Nyborg et al. 2019).

Shavkat Mirziyoyev put out a proposal with Taliban leadership to endeavour economic as well as political strived role within Afghanistan. Substantive approaches that have been related to meeting with President of Uzbekistan and Taliban community have focused on fragmenting national security and at the same time restoring peace within Afghanistan. According to the approaches made by officials of Uzbekistan it has been decided for the very first time to set up contacts with Taliban community (Mahammad, 2019).

Conclusion and Recommendation.

Research investigation has been based on a proposal of the President of Uzbekistan Shavkat Miromonovich Mirziyoyev in providing respective guidelines for tackling the crisis that rose within Afghanistan. This research provides strong emphasizes on issues and alternating sources that a bring inconsistency within Afghanistan. Cooperation in the recent years has created a crucial impact on normal livelihood within the Afghanistan community (Pherali and Sahar, 2018). President Mirziyoyev has set up several problem-solving strategies that tackle global conflict in the Central Asia.
